Anne Shirley, who has been a great favorite of mine ever since I first met her, has written me a note in her usual charming style and has asked me to tell you about her latest adventure.

Mrs. Gibson had bought her a new dress for her birthday, and Anne was delighted. She had always dreamed of having a dress like this, and now she was going to wear it to the party at the Drakes' house.

But when she arrived, she found that the dress didn't fit at all. It was too tight in the bodice and too loose in the skirt. She tried everything she could think of to make it comfortable, but nothing seemed to work.

"Oh, dear," she thought, "what a terrible mistake I've made!"

Just then, her friend, Mary, walked up to her and said, "What's the matter, Anne? You look as if you're going to have a heart attack!"

"Oh, Mary, I'm so upset," Anne replied. "I just can't figure out what to do with this dress!"

Mary thought for a moment and then said, "Why don't you try wearing a pair of big gloves?"

Anne laughed and tried it on, and to her surprise, it worked! The dress fit perfectly now, and she was able to wear it without any trouble.

"Oh, Mary, you're a lifesaver! I can't thank you enough!"

Mary just smiled and said, "It's nothing, Anne. Just do what you can to make things work out."

And so Anne did, and the party was a great success. She was able to wear her new dress without any problems, and everyone loved it.

"Oh, Anne, you look lovely!" said Miss Drakes. "You're the prettiest girl in the room!"

Anne blushed and said, "Oh, thank you, Miss Drakes. I couldn't have done it without your help!"

"Oh, don't mention it," said Mary. "I'm glad I could help."

And so Anne's adventure came to a happy end, and she was able to enjoy the party with her friends.
